

Brad Amborski is a dynamic commercial real estate sales agent based in Columbus, Ohio, with a degree from Ohio State University's Max M. Fisher College of Business. His background includes a development analyst internship in real estate, diverse roles in customer service, operations, and a notable stint in the U.S. Marine Corps. Amborski's blend of academic achievement, practical real estate experience, and military discipline underpins his drive toward financial freedom in the commercial real estate industry.

Brad E. Amborski is an up-and-coming professional in the field of commercial real estate, currently based in Columbus, Ohio. Graduating in May 2024 from The Ohio State University's Max M. Fisher College of Business with a specialization in Real Estate, Brad has equipped himself with a robust knowledge base, including courses in construction management, finance, international business, accounting, marketing, legal operations management, logistics management, and real estate analytics. He brings to the table a variety of essential skills like advanced Excel proficiency, problem-solving, keen attention to detail, exceptional customer service, effective time management, and teamwork.

His hands-on experience in the real estate sector was significantly enhanced through his role as a Development Analyst Intern at Spire Development, where he assisted in identifying and underwriting new real estate development opportunities, preparing funding applications, and coordinating market research. His involvement in various stages of project development, from initiation to asset management, showcases his comprehensive understanding of the industry.

Brad's diverse work experience also includes roles in customer service and administration at Military & Veterans Services, as well as operational roles at AmerisourceBergen and PNC Bank. His time in the United States Marine Corps as an Aviation Supply Specialist, where he managed substantial inventories and contributed to significant productivity improvements, speaks to his discipline, organizational skills, and leadership capabilities.

Brad is driven by a goal to achieve financial freedom through his career in commercial real estate. His unique combination of academic prowess, practical experience, and military discipline positions him as a promising asset in the real estate market.